Annapolis, Maryland (January 29, 2020) – Ahead of the 2020 primaries and general election, Maryland State Board of Elections is joining the National Association of Secretaries of State (NASS) in the #TrustedInfo2020 education effort to encourage citizens to look to their state and local election officials as the trusted sources of election information.

The State Board of Elections and local boards of elections continuously work to secure election systems and data and inform Americans about the elections process, including voter registration, state election laws, polling place locations, voting and much more.

The State Board of Elections has valuable information, resources and accessible tools for those interested in learning more about elections at elections.maryland.gov. Make sure to follow us on Twitter: @md_sbe and Facebook: @MarylandStateBoardofElections. If you have questions or see incorrect election information please contact us at info.sbe@maryland.gov.

Maryland citizens can also become more involved in the elections process by becoming an election judge (poll worker). You can learn more at: elections.maryland.gov/get_involved/index.html.
